

Dr. Shaun Travers is a Campus Diversity Officer and Director of the LGBT Resource Center serving LGBTQIA+ communities at the University of California, San Diego. An active representative of the bisexual community, he has presented at the National Conference on Race and Ethnicity, Harvard College, the NASPA Multicultural Institute, and numerous trainings on campuses throughout the country. At UC San Diego he has led the Undergraduate Diversity Leadership Institute, the Building Communities for Social Justice Practice Institute, Anti-Racist Practice Leadership groups, and the Leaders for Equity, Advancement and Diversity Fellows (LEAD Fellows). His current practice and leadership involves a deep understanding of intersectionality, power, privilege, oppression and the dynamic tension inherent in university environments. Dr. Travers chairs the San Diego LGBT Community Leadership Council, served on the Board of Directors for the San Diego LGBT Community Center, was Vice President of the congregation at First Lutheran Church San Diego, Chair of the Education Committee for the National Consortium of LGBTQIA+ Resource Professionals in Higher Education, and Co-Chair of the Mentorship Committee for the GLBT Knowledge Community at NASPA. He has served on the Board of Directors of Planned Parenthood of the Pacific Southwest, and the Board of Directors of the American Red Cross – Brazos Valley Texas. Prior to UC San Diego, Shaun coordinated Gender Issues Education Services, including Women's Development Programs and Advocacy Services for victims of sexual violence, at Texas A&M University. He worked on Semester at Sea in the Fall of 2000. An advocate of open, poly and complex relationships and family structures, Shaun is in a long-term committed relationship of over a twenty years with James, and James and Shaun are in a 10 year relationship with Bryce, with whom they live.
